

Chief Executive Officer
Cynthia H. de Lorenzi

President
Bruce T. Long

August 3, 2005

Federal Communications Commission
445 12th Street SW
Washington, D.C. 20554

RE: Docket 04-440

We are an ISP in Fairfax, Virginia that serves more than 3,500 customers in and around our community. Deregulation will harm our business and the ability to provide competitive services to our customers. Consumers need and deserve the choice they enjoy today and deregulation will take away their right to choose providers and services.

President Bush signed Executive Order 13272 on August 13, 2002 requiring federal agencies to implement policies protecting small entities when writing new rules and regulations. President Bush' Small Business Agenda states that every new business starts with an idea for a better product or process, which has been the driving force of Internet innovation we enjoy today.

These ideas become reality only when confident entrepreneurs are willing to take economic risks and ISP's have gallantly taken this risk. Small businesses are the heart of the American economy because they drive innovation – new firms are established on the very premise that they can do a better job and recognize that a one-size-fits-all approach is not good for business and innovation.

A few legacy carriers cannot continue to benefit from valuable government grants and licenses, including the use of public rights-of-way, and be allowed to extend those rights in a way that bars others from offering their service to the public.

President Bush has called for recognition that supporting America's small businesses is critical to ensuring continued job creation. Today, small businesses create two-thirds of new private sector jobs in America, employ more than half of all workers, and account for more than half of the output of our economy.

The FCC has been entrusted with protecting consumers, encouraging economic development, and ensuring that competition is allowed to develop, rather than being quashed by a deregulated monopoly. Already, we are seeing the Bells move to increase prices, and without regulation, small business will be harmed, thousands of ISP's will be forced out business, highly-skilled workers will lose their jobs and consumers will lose the choice of platform for broadband services and support.

Deregulation will be bad for America and we encourage you to reconsider deregulating Open Access.

Cynthia H. de Lorenzi
Chief Executive Officer
PatriotNet, Inc.

10565 Lee Highway
Suite 203
Fairfax, VA 22030
703-797-1888 x211
CdeLorenzi@patriot.net
www.patriot.net

10565 Fairfax Blvd
Suite 203
Fairfax, VA 22030
t: (703) 797-1888
f: (703) 273-9236